STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

With a view to curb acts of vandalism and damage to public property, including destruction and damage caused during riots and public commotion, a need was felt to strengthen the law to enable the authorities to deal effectively with cases of damage to public property. Accordingly, the President promulgated on 28th January, 1984, the Prevention of Damage to Public Property Ordinance, 1984 (No. 3 of 1984).

2. The Ordinance defined "public property" as meaning any property, whether immovable or movable (including any machinery) which is owned by, or in the possession of, or under the control of, the Central Government, or any State Government, or any local authority, or any corporation established by, or under, a Central, Provincial or State Act, or any company as defined in section 617 of the Companies Act, 1956, or any such other institution, concern or undertaking, financed wholly or substantially by funds provided directly or indirectly by the Central Government or by one or more State Governments, or partly by the Central Government and partly by one or more State Governments as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf.

3. Under the Ordinance, a person who commits mischief in respect of any public property, being any building, installation or other property used in connection with the production, distribution or supply of water, light, power or energy, or any oil installations, sewage works, mine or factory, or means of public transportation or telecommunications, etc., is punishable with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than six months, but which may extend to five years and with fine. A person committing mischief in respect of any other public property is punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years and with fine. However, a person who commits mischief against any type of public property by means of fire or explosive substance is punishable with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than one year, but which may extend to ten years and with fine.

4. The Ordinance also provided that no person accused or convicted of any offence under the Ordinance shall, if in custody, be released on bail or on his own bond without giving the prosecution and opportunity to oppose the application for such release.

5. The Bill seeks to replace the Ordinance.
